EMAW, the "How To" on being a man of God; learning how to grow as a Christian.

I was searching for a men's group that would get me connected to the men of my church and challenge me spiritually. I found that, and so much more shortly after starting Every Man A Warrior.

2018 started out great with Calvary's fasting series. I knew I needed to make some changes in my life, specifically dedicating one on one time with God. After the series (and some changes) I wanted to maintain the progress I made. So when I saw EMAW advertised, I knew I had to sign up.

My biggest fear was verse memory, which is way easier than I thought. I was sold when during the introduction everyone was asked who wanted to be a good biblical husband...every hand went up. Then we were asked similar questions about parenting, work, money, etc. Each time all the hands went up. Then we were asked who knows a bible verse on the above topics. The numbers dramatically dropped for a showing of hands. And to be honest, I didn't know any verses on any the above topics.

I know have over 30 verses memorized (which I previously thought to be physically impossible). Don't let that scare you from taking this course.

I have also learned to prioritize time with God through my devotions. This has been crucial on developing a relationship with God. This course is almost a "how to" on being a man of God, learning how to grow as a Christian. Before this class I maybe read my bible once or twice a week if I had time.....And that includes Sunday at church. I'm so happy to report that 5 days a week is my new minimum and I actually understand how to read the Bible and complete a devotion.

I can't say enough about this course....It is a must have for every man.
