

EMAW Testimonials

Collection for Inspiration

Ron Dazell – North Dakota

“They Spur Each Other On To Love & Good Deeds!”

I wanted to thank you guys for the work you are doing. I took a group of young men through Book One last summer. These are college men who are really starting to get it. What a joy for us to lay hands and pray for one of the guys on the last day of the study when he confided in us he was about to ask his girlfriend to marry him. These guys are learning to spur each other on to love and good deeds. Thank you for making the practices of the 2:7 studies accessible to these guys in an updated format. They have asked to go through the next book this semester and then complete the series before the end of the school year. On top of it all, they are each seeking opportunities to promote the gospel on campus.

We just started a second group of men in Book One last night. I asked one of the young men, from last summer, to join me as a co-leader. This is a much different group of men. This group is older, and they have taken a longer road to come to the place where they are ready to take God seriously. I am excited to see what God will do once again, and I am confident God is raising up a champion of discipleship in my young co-leader.

Please thank Lonnie and your team for me and keep up the good work. My only regret is the lack of a similar set of books for women. They need this too!

Ron Dazell

Associate Pastor
Evangelical Bible Church